Nagy Headlines CD-3 Candidate Debate Tonight in Las Vegas

Neurosurgeon, former state medical board president emphasizes transparency and leadership ahead of primary

LAS VEGAS, NV — Congressional candidate Dr. Aury Nagy will take the stage tonight at the Nevada Young Republicans Congressional District 3 Candidate Debate, reinforcing his commitment to transparency, accountability, and direct engagement with voters.

The debate, hosted by the Nevada Young Republicans, will take place tonight, with doors opening at 5:00 p.m. and the debate beginning at 6:00 p.m. at 333 Rancho Drive, Suite 660 in Las Vegas.

Dr. Nagy will share the stage with fellow candidates Jeff Gunter and Tara Anderson. Notably, candidate Marty O'Donnell did not agree to participate in the forum.

“As a candidate for Congress, I believe it’s my responsibility to be accessible to voters and willing to answer tough questions head-on,” said Dr. Nagy. “Leadership isn’t about avoiding scrutiny, it’s about stepping forward, being accountable, and earning the trust of the people you hope to represent. That’s exactly what I intend to do.”

Dr. Nagy’s participation underscores his growing momentum in the race for Nevada’s 3rd Congressional District, as he continues to distinguish himself as a leading candidate positioned to challenge incumbent Susie Lee in the general election.

With a background as a nationally recognized neurosurgeon and former president of the Nevada Board of Medical Examiners, Nagy has built his campaign on a message of results-driven leadership, healthcare expertise, and economic accountability.

MEDIA AVAILABILITY:

Dr. Nagy will be available for media interviews both prior to and immediately following the debate. Members of the media are encouraged to coordinate in advance for scheduling.
